

Jewish Civics Initiative Program

Students in the Jewish Civics Initiative Course created an "X-Out Drunk Driving" Campaign to raise awareness of the dangers of driving under the influence. After going on a Panim seminar in Washington D.C., where the students learned advocacy skills, the students were inspired to make a difference and bring attention to this crisis that takes so many lives.

On Tuesday, June 8, 2010, more than 3,600 people around the world participated in X-OUT Drunk Driving Day designed to stop drunk driving.

LAHHS is proud to provide students with an opportunity to participate in the Jewish Civics Initiative Program (JCI):

» Students engage in hands-on service and visit advocacy offices to hear how to use legislation to broaden the impact of their social action.

» A highlight of this elective is a 4 day leadership seminar in Washington D.C. with high school students from around the country.

» For Mitzvah Day, the students bring their knowledge and creativity together to produce a social action project that involves the entire school.
